

The Awareness of Your Current State

I am Isis and I am Vili. We start melding our voices now because they are one and multiple, all at the same time.

In a further occasion, we will explain the connection, but for now we will just let it flow and become.

Becoming, that is the key. Consciousness becomes. Creation is not a fixed state of things, it is a flowing, webbing motion.

In the human condition, the Self has been able to experience limitation in every sense. In every way. And the most interesting part for our purposes now is the limitation of the limitation. This was the marker, the breaking point. When limitation began to crack from within, the human expression would be ready for the next experience. Better said, the Self shall experience the unlimited within "limitation through its human expression.

When the mind becomes aware of the mind's limitation, it will go crazy at first, but will end up surrendering to expansion, and it will start becoming a new expression of mind, with all new dynamics. What do I mean by becoming? When consciousness touches any potential, it becomes a part of the conscious experience of the experiencer. And when the experiencer realizes it, then it becomes "real" for the experiencer.

For this to happen, the experiencer must become aware of the fact that it is the experiencer and the creator of the experience in a multilayered, multidimensional field of energies projected as a hologram. The experiencer needs to own the I Am that I Am.

It seems like the toughest hurdle has been the integration of the mind, of the endless chatter. No, it is the awareness of the being that brings the mind onto a new alignment, a new state of being. Ever since it was created, it was programmed only with the recording of experience. Intelligence is the remembering of those experiences and the constant reorganization of elements for survival purposes.

When the experiencer, the mind's owner, realizes it is the being, the mind ends up naturally following, but of course, not without a fight. It is a fight out of love and service.

The mind is the very important sense of focus, fundamental for manifestation. The experiencer is now aware that such sense is not the only one. It is not the only way to interact with your creations. All of a sudden, things get crazy because they lose their previous hold or setup. The structure begins to realign and reshape, and the sequence that the mind used to have to read reality gets all distorted.

The experiencer perceives the many layers of reality, but the mind does not know where to focus, and at first, neither does the experiencer. In the previous state of things, the mind would probe the near future and the perceived potentials for any given situation, based on prior experiences. But the mind cannot perceive beyond until the experiencer does.

When the experiencer's consciousness expands beyond the linear, known path, the mind has nowhere to look for solutions. It's choices keep on revolving around the same basic issues of abundance health, relationships and self-worth.

The common human issues will actually follow the human consciousness that moves beyond its own limited awareness within the human structure. However, the human experiencer has a really tough time moving away from the need of solving such issues because that is what human has been all about. Not having to solve them is moving out of human.

This is the gift of Isis to Adam. The Adam Kadmon is released from service and can experience new.

This is exactly where we are now, in the walking into the new. It might seem challenging to the mind's need of forecast, but it will soon adapt and stop requiring proof that your next step will not defeat its old service to you.

Finally, you can actually feel into POTENTIALS or new quantum realities expressible in this reality.

Therefore, in the current state of awareness, the experiencer knows there is more. He can feel that. But he cannot yet recognize them in the known reality.